LEARN EMOTIONAL RELEASE METHODS (ERM)

This six-hour workshop is designed to teach therapists, energy healers and other holistic practitioners, the theory, and practice of the emerging field of Energy Therapy.

An overview of the history of Energy Therapy and its relationship to Chinese Energetic Medicine and the Chakra system will be discussed.

Applications to fears, grief, relationship issues, health issues, other emotional reactions and ERM's applicability to numerous other life issues will be covered.

Integration of energy therapies with your healing practice and life issues will be discussed with case studies and demonstration as applicable.

Live demonstrations of the practice will be conducted with class participants. Students will work with each other on issues of their choice. A manual, which covers the essentials of the process, is included for participants in the class.

Expect that you will become free of old unwanted emotional responses that are interfering with your relationships, work and health. This is a simple to learn, gentle, fast, dynamic, powerful process that will amaze you and excite you to learn and apply this in your life and in your professional practice. Participants have often reported that they have used these methods with immediate results after attending the class.
